Ivanti Xtraction

Reporting across IT is a challenge. You gather and overlay data from IT applications by hand, wrestle to create high-quality visuals, and then rework everything for another audience. There's a better way. Ivanti Xtraction is a self-service, real-time reporting and dashboard solution that helps you meet your IT business intelligence needs with less effort. Merge your vendor tools data—including Ivanti tools—in one place. Power your IT decisions based on real-time, comprehensive views of your IT environment.

Simple Self Service

Spend less time waiting for or chasing down reports. Be in control, and depend less on specialized staff. Designed with the user in mind, Xtraction provides an easy-to-use, flexible interface. Anyone can create personalized reports or dashboards and recut them at any time. Get to your data on demand directly from source. Drag-and-drop or point-and-click, without coding or complex commands. Select data from your connected systems, choose the display format, and let Xtraction do the rest.

Unite Data with Connectors

Maximize your IT investments and leverage your key IT data. No need to open each application and wade through masses of data. Use connectors pre-built for Ivanti tools and other common applications—ITSM, ITAM, operational security, endpoint management, and relational databases. Unify, cross-reference, and cherry-pick only the data you need. Execute a level of analysis unachievable with siloed tools and data. Spot unused services by department. Assess the financial impact of major outages. Track excessive times to patch or devices in need of OS migration and more, without breaking a sweat.

Achieve Real-time Visibility

Don't just analyze your data after the fire is out. Monitor, explore, and share critical information in real time with auto-refresh. Visualize point-in-time data on dashboards at your leisure. Consume information in common formats such as pie, bar, or line charts. Export to popular file formats for business reports or presentations. Count on reliable, accurate and timely information in data-driven meetings and decisions.

Discover Hidden Information

Xtraction isn't limited to fixed or flat dashboard views. Drill down through dashboards with ease. Filter results to focus on points of interest or areas of concern for real-time insights. With the right access, you can even open a record in the underlying application. Gain a deeper understanding of your data. Find lost assets, identify new service opportunities, or pinpoint vulnerable and offline devices. Protect worker productivity, strengthen security policies, and impact your bottom line.

Automate Scheduling and Alerts

Schedule report delivery at a time that suits you—daily, weekly, or monthly. Have reports mailed straight to your in-box. Mitigate IT risk. Take a proactive approach with Xtraction's alerting capability. Send information dashboards automatically. Receive advanced warning about service level breaches, out-of-compliance devices, or other critical indicators before it's too late to act.

Minimize Data Access Risks

Maintain control over who sees your business data. Expose your data, reports, and dashboards to authorized users only with role-based access. Xtraction includes integrated authentication with Active Directory. Gain secure access that doesn't impact user productivity.
